

ENERGY POLICY

This Energy Policy demonstrates Briggs Marine and Environmental Services' (Briggs') commitment to sustainability and social responsibility. Briggs recognises that fossil fuels are a finite resource and that their use contributes to climate change. Therefore, the company has committed to continually improving its methods of managing energy usage and avoiding energy wastage and unnecessary expenditure.

To achieve these aims, Briggs has implemented an ambitious energy management system compliant to ISO 50001. This applies to all operations as detailed in the energy management performance report and will enable us to meet and/or exceed our legal obligations under the Energy Savings Opportunity Scheme (ESOS) as well as all other requirements. This policy has the full support of Briggs' Directors.

It is Briggs' policy to:

- Maintain a register of significant energy aspects
- Ensure availability of information to enable effective monitoring of energy performance
- Review performance on a regular basis and set objectives and targets
- Provide the necessary resources to achieve the objectives and targets
- Consider industry best practice when procuring energy efficient products and services
- Make energy efficiency improvements a key part of our design processes
- Communicate the energy management system to everyone working for or on Briggs' behalf
- Encourage customers, suppliers and contractors to develop sustainable energy management practices
- Make this policy available to interested parties upon request

We recognise that the successful implementation of this policy will require the cooperation of all members of management and staff.

The Senior HSEQ Manager has been given the appropriate authority and responsibility for establishing, implementing and maintaining the environmental management system and for reporting on performance and recommendations for improvement to the Board.

I give my full backing to this policy and will wholeheartedly support staff in putting it into practice.
